Issue 31 31 July – 6 August 2021

Oh, I do love a soap devil child, and Hope Stape is one of the best in the business. This week, it seems she's done something unthinkable, which brings huge drama to the Street. Okay, we can maybe blame Hope's behaviour on the fact that her dad was accidental serial killer John Stape – but when you look at

"It seems Hope's done something unthinkable" it, practically every soap child has had a terrible and traumatic upbringing, yet not all of them turn into monsters. It's probably just as well, or else in 15 to 20 years' time we'd have the most dysfunctional soap cast you could ever imagine!

Elsewhere this week, we talk to the star behind one of soap's traumatised tots, Katie Hill – aka Emmerdale's

Sarah Dingle – who tells all about life growing up in the village. Meanwhile, EastEnders actress Maisie Smith, who started on the show at the age of just seven, fills us in on Tiff's big new plot...

CORONATION STREET | ITV MONDAY

TERROR ERUPTS ON THE COBBLES AFTER THE STREET'S DEVIL CHILD PLOTS TO DESTROY TYRONE'S HAPPY HOME...

Fiz and Tyrone fear Hope's done something truly terrible

Fiz and Tyrone reach the shocking conclusion that Hope is up to her old tricks again this week, after a fire breaks out at the salon flat – with pregnant Alina still inside!

The nightmare unfolds as Hope's burning hatred for her stepdad's new life prompts her to break into the love nest he shares with Alina, hell-bent on causing lots of trouble.

The next thing the Street knows, smoke has engulfed the flat – and as Alina is rushed to hospital, horror washes over Ty and Fiz as they realise Hope could be to blame...

"I think suspicion flashes through Fiz's brain, as her daughter has a history with starting fires," explains Jennie McAlpine, who plays Hope's horrified mum. "And then, similar to when Ruby's mum Kirsty died recently, Fiz and Tyrone put their problems aside to confide in each other. They both know that Hope is capable of it!"

"Fiz and Tyrone know that Hope is capable of this..."

BURNING DESIRE

In the lead-up to the blaze, Hope's jealousy spirals as Tyrone and Alina plan a drinks party to celebrate her pregnancy. The fuss they are making only serves to fuel Hope's rage – and she's put out even further after the couple have to dash off to the hospital when Alina experiences stomach pains.

Thankfully, doctors inform relieved Ty and Alina that the baby is okay, and they are pleased when Hope later presents them with a peace offering – a toy dinosaur for her unborn sibling. But when Tyrone and Alina reveal they're having a baby boy, Hope stares vengefully at her gift to the pair, wickedly plotting something...

"To be honest, I reckon that Fiz has taken her eye off the ball with Hope," concedes Jennie. "She's probably amused by her dislike for Alina, and not reading anything sinister into it."

HOPE TURNS UP THE HEAT

However, Fiz is soon given cause for concern after an outburst from Hope reveals that she is having dark thoughts. The youngster declares that she wants nothing to do with the new baby, and hopes that her sibling is never born – prompting Fiz to send her daughter straight to bed.

Yet, after swiping Alina's keys earlier in the day, Hope sneaks out of No 9 and heads over to the salon flat – intent on retrieving the toy dinosaur. Meanwhile, Tyrone leaves to attend his and Alina's drinks party alone after she comes over feeling tired. So, when Hope lets herself into the flat to set her plan in motion – while truly believing Alina to be at the soiree with Tyrone – she doesn't realise that her dad's girlfriend is fast asleep in bed...

Tyrone is concerned for Alina after she's caught in the fire...

...will she and the pair's unborn baby be okay?

to witness his expectant girlfriend being loaded into an ambulance, as fears mount for Alina's well-being. Has the fire posed a significant danger to the baby?

Meanwhile, talk quickly turns to how the blaze could have started. Once it's revealed that Alina's keys have gone missing, she and Tyrone conclude that someone else must have been in the flat while Alina was asleep. But as Evelyn and Tyrone's suspicions turn to Hope, will Fiz accept that her daughter is to blame?

"She insists to Evelyn that Hope can't be involved as she was in her room all night," explains Jennie. "Although that's the only reason Fiz initially believes Hope to be innocent. It's not as if she's saying, 'My daughter wouldn't do that!'"

Meanwhile, Alina has her own thoughts as to who set the fire – and accuses Fiz!

If it turns out that Hope was indeed responsible, will Fiz see to it that she's suitably punished? Or will Hope's mum take the rap for her daughter?

Laura-Jayne Tyler

"Fiz could make the ultimate sacrifice!"

Jennie teases a future behind bars for her alter ego, should Fiz choose to stand by Hope...

Oh, Jennie! Poor Fiz has had an awful time. How is she feeling about Tyrone and Alina now?

She's started to feel as if she could move on. Once she'd found out that Alina was pregnant, Fiz concluded that Ty's made his bed and has to lie in it. This is now his future...

How has Fiz been feeling since she started seeing Phill? Has he helped her to move on?

Absolutely. Fiz thinks that she is the person that people leave, not the woman someone wants to take out! So, Phill has given her confidence.

Hope's a troubled girl. Is Fiz worried about her future?

She does wonder if Hope has inherited traits from her dad [serial killer John Stape]. But as Tyrone points out, Ruby's mum Kirsty [Soames] wasn't a good person, yet Ruby doesn't have the same behavioural problems as Hope.

Alina thinks Fiz is responsible for the fire. Do you think Fiz would make the ultimate sacrifice if Hope did indeed set the blaze?

Because of her history, Fiz knows that the courts will probably throw the book at Hope – and Fiz will feel that she has failed her in some way. So, if she can stop Hope's life from being ruined completely, Fiz may well think the only way out is for her to take the rap...

Mandy & Nicola's CATFIGHT CHAOS!

IT'S SUPER SOAKERS AT DAWN AS THE BATTLE LINES ARE DRAWN...

Furious Nicola lets loose on Mandy with a water gun

Prepare for hilarious scenes in Emmerdale this week, as Nicola and Mandy square up for a furious showdown!

Things are already tense between the two women following Mandy's kiss with Jimmy, but the real drama kicks off at Angelica's birthday party, when Mandy overhears Nicola bad-mouthing her and son Vinny. Seeing red, Mandy whacks Nicola with a huge inflatable – and the situation turns very messy indeed...

"It's like a red rag to a bull for Mandy – you can say whatever you like about her, but don't mention Vinny, or she's going for you!" declares Lisa Riley, who plays her. "She goes up to HOP for a hot chocolate, which is when she hears Nicola speaking with Rodney, calling her an unfit mother. Nicola says it's no wonder that Vinny has turned out like he has!"

What Mandy doesn't realise is that Nicola is putting on a front, desperately attempting to hide her real feelings about Jimmy wanting to end their marriage. And while Nicola knows that Mandy isn't really responsible for the problems between her and her hubby, she's still desperate to find someone to blame.

Nicola gets a thwack on the head, which is deserved!" NICOLA fight, and later there's some cake involved. You'd think they wouldn't be evenly matched, although they are. Nicola's like a Jack Russell biting at Mandy's ankles!"

"Me and Nicola isolated beforehand so that we could properly go for it," continues Lisa. "At one point I literally had her on my shoulders and we were spinning around – we were so enthusiastic, and we really wanted to make it work. We had a ball!"

Jimmy's utterly mortified by the turn of events, however – and his day gets even worse once Juliette rocks up and throws him another massive curveball that's set to turn his life upside down...

Sarah Ellis

FRIENDS OR ENEMIES?

Can Mandy and Nicola find a way forward?

It's sad to see Nicola taking her anger out on Mandy, when all Mandy ever wanted to do was help save Nic's marriage to Jimmy. So once the dust has settled, might they forge some kind of friendship?

"They're frenemies!" declares Nicola. "They have a nice moment the next day where Nicola apologises. But she holds on to bitterness for many years, doesn't she? She doesn't forgive easily."

"I'd like to think they could be friends, as I've loved filming with Nicola and Nick [Miles, aka Jimmy]," grins Lisa. "I hope one day Nicola can learn to trust Mandy, like Chas trusts her with Paddy. Mandy just wants Nicola to realise that she's been her advocate this whole time."

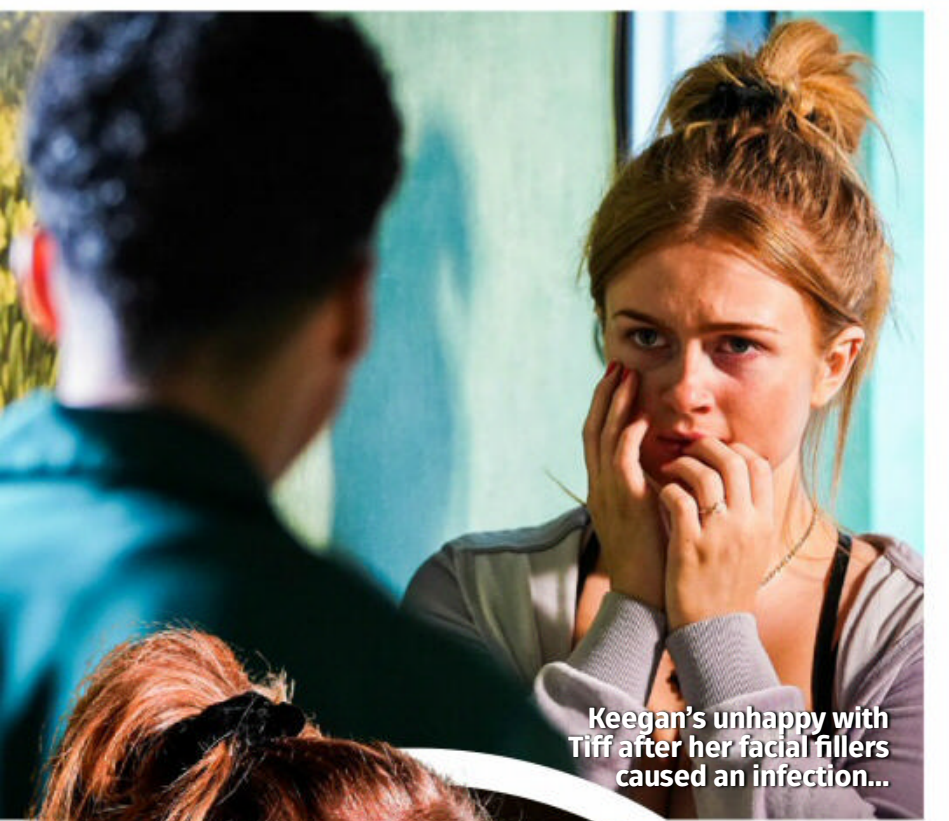

"Angelica's party marks the end of the Kings' marriage," sighs Nicola Wheeler, aka Nicola, as she takes up the story. "Nicola is just very depressed, and struggling to keep it under wraps. They're all smiley faces for the kids, trying to make out that they're having a lovely day. So when Mandy rocks up, Nicola turns all of her attention on her."

"All of the angst and emotion that's been building up over the past few months, Nicola offloads on to Mandy," she adds. "Then Nicola gets a thwack on the head, which is deserved, I have to say!"

Before long, Angelica's party has descended into absolute carnage, and all the children are left staring open-mouthed at these two badly behaved adults who've totally ruined what was supposed to be a nice celebration.

"What I love about this fight is that it's very comedic," chuckles Nicola. "They start using all these childhood props! They whack each other with these big inflatable things, then it turns into a water Keegan's unhappy with Tiff after her facial fillers caused an infection...

...and he doesn't notice that the infection is only getting worse

EASTENDERS | BBC1 THURSDAY

Sparks fly for Dotty & Keegan!

WILL HE CHEAT ON TIFF WITH HER MATE?

The sexual tension between Keegan and Dotty can be cut with a knife this week, after they wind up drunk and alone together in the office of Ruby's club!

The pair are drawn to one another after a showdown between them earlier in the week ends with Keegan telling off Dotty for how she's treating Vinny. But as Keegan's own relationship with Tiff hits the rocks, his bickering with Dotty turns into something more...

"Dotty's just had a row with Vinny, and Keegan has his own stuff going on with Tiff – so they are both feeling destructive," shares Milly Zero, who plays Dotty. "They've been teasing each other all week and the tension has built up. Dotty's working late, Keegan walks in, and I think she sees an opportunity to have a bit of fun and get under his skin."

Sparks fly after Keegan is put in the full picture about the secrets Tiffany has been keeping from him. On top of learning that his wife has undergone more facial fillers – despite the fact that she's suffering from a serious infection – Keegan also discovers that Tiff has been supplying Bernie with diet pills. His pregnant sister is forced to admit the truth after she collapses and Gray calls an ambulance, leaving Keegan furious with Tiff when he finds out the part she played.

Meanwhile, Dotty is trying to play things cool with Vinny, who confides in Keegan about their fling. The smitten lad would love nothing more than for him and Dotty to become a proper item – however, she “Keegan confronts Dotty about Vinny, and she gets defensive...”

ZACK'S GOT MY BACK!

Milly heaps praise on her respectful co-star...

The scenes in Ruby's office this week required stars Milly and Zack Morris, who plays Keegan, to be up close and personal with one another – and Milly says she couldn't have asked for a better leading man.

"Honestly, I'd want my son to be like Zack in the future," grins the 22-year-old star. "He's been raised so well and is such a gentleman. Obviously, with scenes such as Keegan and Dotty's this week, it's important that you feel at ease with your partner, and Zack just made me feel so comfortable."

Vinny is lovesick over Dotty – who just doesn't feel the same way doesn't see him as anything more than a mate.

"Dotty genuinely doesn't think she's done anything wrong with regards to Vinny," explains Milly. "She tells herself that it's fine – he was grieving, she was there for him, they're adults – and it was just sex. I think that Dotty does feel guilty, though, so when Keegan confronts her, she gets defensive. What right does he have to get in her business when his own marriage isn't perfect?

Dotty sees Keegan and Tiff rowing all the time!"

After storming out on Tiffany, Keegan heads to the club to collect his wages from Dotty. However, what he fails to realise while angrily rushing out is that his sick wife's infection is getting considerably worse.

Over at Ruby's, meanwhile, Dotty scolds Vinny for telling Keegan about them – only for Vinny to confess his true feelings for her...

Dotty feels awful when she can't return the sentiment, and after Vinny leaves, she seeks to numb her pain by getting drunk.

That's when Keegan happens to walk in – and as he ignores a call from Tiffany, Dotty invites him to share a drink with her.

"When Dotty returned to Albert Square, flirting with Keegan was the best way to wind Tiff up, as the girls didn't get on," recalls Milly.

"However, her friendship with Tiffany developed after they spent the whole of lockdown together in the same house. So, as for Dotty and Keegan, I really don't know if there is a future. And I don't think he really sees Dotty in that way, either!"

That said, will lust take over as Dotty and Keegan grow closer? And will their chemistry spell the end of his marriage to Tiff?

Laura-Jayne Tyler

"I don't know if there's a future for Dotty and Keegan"

"Tiffany is very insecure!"

Maisie Smith on her character's image issues and marriage woes...

Tiffany is totally oblivious to Keegan's closeness with Dotty this week, as her obsession with getting facial fillers puts her health at serious risk. Inside Soap caught up with Maisie Smith, who is able to shed some light on why gorgeous Tiff feels the need to 'improve' her appearance...

What was your reaction when you found out Tiffany was going to have this storyline?

I've been very lucky with the storylines I've been given on the show. EastEnders always tries to focus on issues that are happening in the world – so I was so glad to be given the chance to actually show that body insecurities are a massive thing that lots of people go through, especially within my age group.

Tiffany is becoming obsessed with her appearance, what is the reason behind it?

She's an 18-year-old, she's been through a lot as a character, and she's insecure. Then Keegan's job has been taking off, he's really been doing well for himself, and it's making Tiffany question herself and if she's enough for him. She's a very relatable character on the show – she's young, she's in love, and she has a lot of pressure on her. That's as well as being a teenager and being hormonal and experiencing what a normal teenager would experience. She has a lot of insecurities.

Tiffany is having a bad reaction to the filler – do you think this will deter her from doing it again?

Absolutely. I think because she is very much on social media, she knows what goes on. She sees a lot of young people in their 20s and late teens having work done, but now she has an infection I don't think that she'll want to do it again. That was the final straw.

She had a lot of people say to her, "You don't need it, you're absolutely fine, you're perfect". Realistically, though, if you have a problem with yourself, anyone can tell you that you look beautiful, but you're not going to believe it yourself.

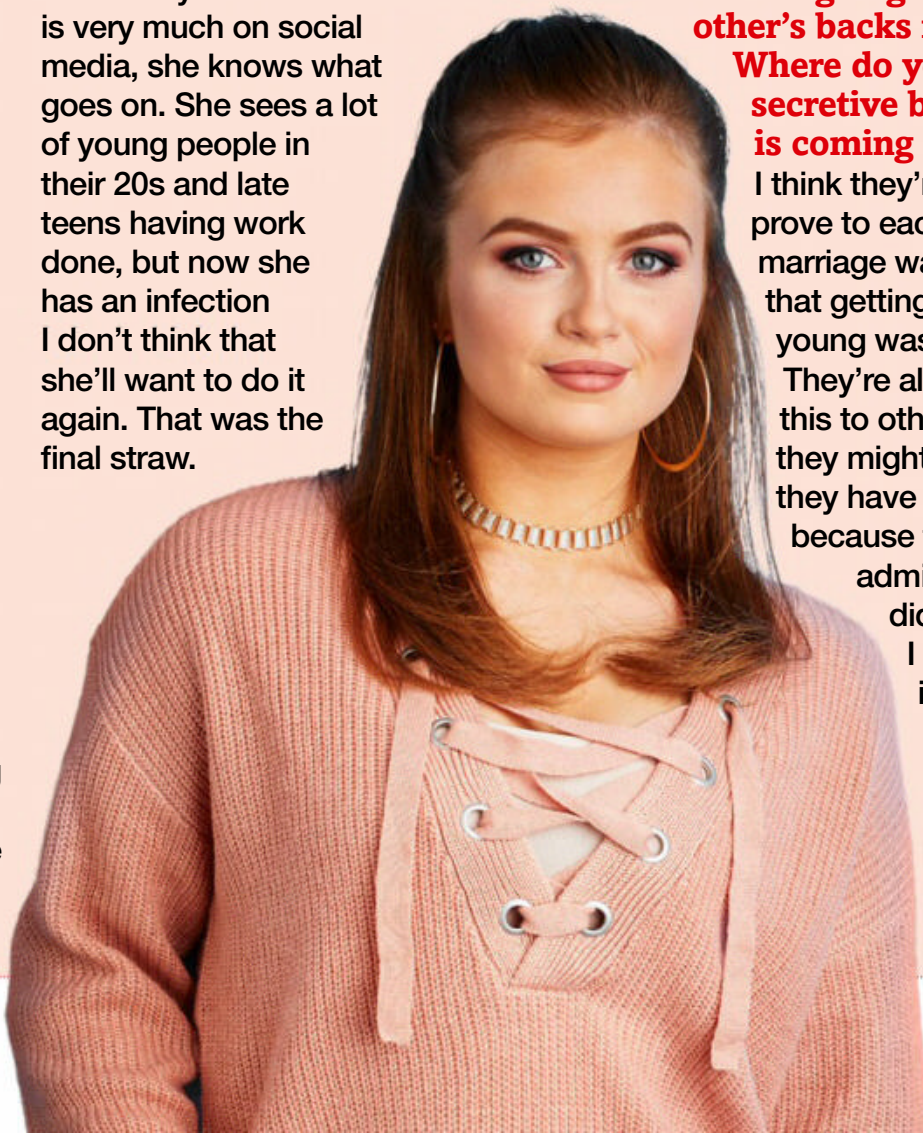

Tiffany and Keegan have both been going behind each other's backs recently.

Where do you think this secretive behaviour is coming from?

I think they're both trying to prove to each other that their marriage was a good idea, that getting married so young was a good idea.

They're also trying to prove this to other people. I think they might be hiding issues they have from each other because they don't want to admit that maybe they did rush into it.

I think that's mainly it – they do love each other, but they are also too scared to lose each other so they keep secrets.

The danger of the situation leads the former lovers to share a kiss

HOLLYOAKS | Channel 4 TUESDAY

Joel and Cleo back together!

A THREAT FROM WARREN SEES THEM REUNITE...

Joel is put in a hateful dilemma when Warren threatens Cleo

Joel and Cleo share a shock kiss this week, after Joel reveals to his former fiancée that her life could be in danger!

In the wake of the Price Slice robbery, Joel is distraught when he discovers that his dad, Warren, was behind it all. And soon, Warren ends up begging his own son to keep quiet about his crime...

"Joel was convinced that his dad had turned over a new leaf," sighs Rory Douglas-Speed, who plays Warren's boy.

"After learning about Cormac's murder too, he thought Warren was trying to change. Warren makes lots of promises, but then does something else – and for Joel, it's getting to the point of no return."

When Joel discovers his dad's guilt over the break-in, he serves Warren an ultimatum – turn himself into the police, or Joel will do it himself!

"Joel will go through with it," Rory assures us. "Like I say, Warren is constantly promising Joel that he'll do better and he'll change. But I think Joel is over it – he's heard it all before. The only way Warren can change is if he's locked up."

While Warren agrees to hand himself in, a talk with Fergus sees him do a complete U-turn on his decision. And to add insult to injury, in order to protect himself, Warren makes a threat to Joel that he'll hurt who he cares for most – Cleo!

"The threat Warren makes is pretty serious," reveals Rory. "And Joel's put in an awful position because, at the end of the day, Cleo's his soulmate. They might not be in love with each other,

"The pressure makes Joel do something silly, and a bit un-priestly..."

Warren robbed Price Slice, but has no intention of paying for his crime

Warren threatens to hurt Cleo after a chat with gangster Fergus to explain that Cleo could be in danger. And when they get together, things take a turn...

"What Warren's said has rattled Joel so he meets Cleo under such ludicrous circumstances!" exclaims Rory. "Joel attempts to protect Cleo from getting hurt and certain things transpire. The pressure that Joel's under at the time makes him do something a bit silly, a bit un-priestly, some would say..."

How will Cleo react to the shock kiss? And will anyone else find out about it?

Alice Penwill

TROUBLE BREWING!

Rory predicts there may be repercussions following Joel's forbidden kiss...

We all know that Cleo's new boyfriend, Toby, has a killer history! But unfortunately, Joel has no idea...

"What happens all depends how volatile Toby will be if he finds out about Joel and Cleo's kiss," admits Rory. "Joel could be in big trouble! Toby's within his rights to get annoyed. Cleo could well be the love of his life, and she's just made a very bad decision regarding Joel. So I totally understand that from Toby's perspective – but the question is, will he go a step too far?"

but he still loves her – if that makes sense. So Joel has a big decision to make: does he turn his dad in? Or let the crime go unpunished so he can protect someone who's a huge part of his life?"

In an attempt to keep Cleo safe, Joel asks to meet up with her in a ruse to wish her a happy birthday. But really, Joel wants

PREVIEW!

HORROR AND HEARTBREAK ON THE WARDS!

Casualty* and Holby will shock and surprise this summer – and there’s even a whiff of Christmas in the air...

Hot on the heels of the news that Casualty will bring back ex-ED legends Noel, Big Mac and Cal for its 35th birthday, show boss Loretta Pearce has lifted the lid on what else is in store for the big shebang later this year...

“There is an anniversary smorgasbord to offer for both old and new fans of Casualty – with huge stunts, faces from the past, some indelible new characters and some wonderful story twists,” teases Loretta. “Elinor Lawless, who joins us as consultant Stevie, makes a splash right from her first episode – and I’m confident she will become one of the most talked-about characters in Casualty history. “There are also huge, heartbreaking stories for Ethan and Jacob later in the series,” adds Loretta. “And I’m delighted to announce a wonderful two-part Christmas special, written by Barbara Machin – one of television’s most prestigious writers.”

Meanwhile, as Casualty’s sister show Holby City gears up for its last-ever episode in March, the grooming storyline takes a sinister twist. Having coerced Fletch’s daughter Evie into getting mixed up with slimy Rich, wicked Jeni will set her sights on Donna’s 15-year-old daughter Mia, and pressure Evie into coaxing the teen into the same murky world...

“I really wanted to do this storyline, but my God, Jeni is horrible!” explains actress Debra Stephenson, who plays her. “But there is an important message that needs to be conveyed. Young girls are being snared in this world, and this story is a reminder that they need to watch out.”

After the sinister nature of her relationship with Rich dawns on bruised Evie, she begins to see Jeni’s true colours. But will Evie find the courage to speak up, so that Mia doesn’t suffer the same fate?

EMMERDALE

MEENA STRIKES AGAIN!

Leanna won't be her last victim...

As we suspected, Emmerdale looks set to embark on a long-running serial killer storyline with mad Meena!

Johnny McPherson, who plays grieving Liam, tells us that wicked Meena is not finished wreaking terror on the Dales yet...

"Leanna won't be her last victim, for sure!" confirms the actor. "It would be interesting if Liam did find out what really happened to his daughter, as what would happen as a consequence? Somebody who's as reasonable and rational as Liam, competing with an absolute torrent of fury... that would be interesting!"

Jamie robs and runs!

EVEN GABBY'S HOSPITAL DASH WON'T STOP HIM...

EMMERDALE | ITV MONDAY

There's high drama at Home Farm this week, when Jamie is caught raiding the safe to fund his new life away from Emmerdale!

Horrified Gabby interrupts her unborn baby's father stealing a big bag of cash, and collapses in pain in front of him. But rather than rush her to hospital, Jamie leaves Will to look after Gabby as he makes his escape!

"This is proof positive that Jamie doesn't care about Gabby or their child," exclaims our Emmerdale insider. "Who could be so despicable? Mind you, Jamie did drug his own mother to get his hands on Home Farm, so it's fair to say that he's capable of anything."

Gabby is already reeling after Will accidentally revealed that Jamie is moving away. She's spent her pregnancy hoping that he'll change his

"This is the moment Gabby can no longer fool herself into believing Jamie is going to be the man she wants him to be," shares our spy. "Suddenly,

BERNICE REPENTS!

Gabby's latest drama provides mum Bernice with a chance to right the wrongs of the past...

Everyone knows Bernice has been a pretty awful parent to the daughter she abandoned as a baby. And she let Gabby down again by arriving back in Emmerdale on the pretence of being there for her, but instead throwing all of her energy into winning back ex-fiancé Liam!

However, since finding tragic Leanna's body, Bernice is determined to prove how much her daughter means to her. So, when she arrives at Gabby's hospital bedside, mother and daughter have a heart-to-heart.

Bernice takes responsibility for neglecting Gabby and admits that she's been a bad mother. Then she promises her girl she'll be there for her and the baby, and even asks Gabby to move in. Bernice hopes she can be the tower of strength Gabby will need as she navigates the final stages of her pregnancy and new motherhood.

Will Gabby accept her mum's invite and leave Home Farm?

Bernice reaches out to her girl

Thankfully, Will turns up in the nick of time to get Gabby medical help. But once the drama is over, Gabby has time to reflect on what's happened. What will her next move be?

Steve is livid at the thought of his daughter sleeping with Aadi

Steve attacks Dev!

HE SEES RED WHEN HE THINKS THAT AADI IS SLEEPING WITH AMY...

CORONATION STREET | ITV WEDNESDAY

Summer is the object of Aadi's affections – not Amy!

There's a sweet new romance blossoming on the cobbles this week, as Aadi tries to pluck up the courage to ask out Summer on a date.

However, when Aadi turns to pal Amy for advice, all hell breaks loose – as Tracy wrongly assumes that her daughter is dating Dev's son! And when Steve jumps to the conclusion that Aadi and Amy are sleeping together, he's baying for blood...

"You can't blame Steve for being overprotective – after all, Amy did fall pregnant when she was just 14," our Corrie spy reminds us. "Having to deal with a teen pregnancy was a nightmare for both Steve and Tracy, and they're desperate to avoid ending up in the same situation again. If Steve has his way, Amy wouldn't have another boyfriend until she was at least 30!"

On this occasion, though, the protective parents have got completely the wrong end of the stick. Amy has no interest in Aadi in a romantic sense, she's merely trying to help him and Summer finally admit that they fancy each other!

There's already been a frisson between Aadi and Summer earlier in the week, as they both admit that they like one another. But when Aadi gets flustered and rushes off, Summer is left confused...

So later, once Aadi confesses to Amy that he wants to ask out Summer, his pal offers to give him dating tips! But as Tracy finds her daughter looking cosy with Aadi, she puts two and two together – and comes up with five...

Although Amy insists that she and Aadi are just friends, Tracy refuses to believe it. And before long, she's spilled the beans to Dev that their kids are in a relationship!

Meanwhile, Aadi finally asks out Summer, leaving her thrilled. And when the lad requests his dad's help in putting together a first-date hamper, Dev is only too pleased – until Tracy informs him that the hamper must be for a date with her daughter...

"This is a serious case of crossed wires," points out our sneak. "Tracy and Dev know they need to keep this news hidden from Steve, though he soon twigs what's going on – and he's absolutely furious!"

As Aadi and Summer happily head off for their date, they're stunned to see Steve launching an angry attack on Dev, accusing him of encouraging Aadi to have sex with Amy!

Can the teens convince Steve that he has it all wrong? And is Summer and Aadi's romance over before it's even begun?

Nina's new project

SHE FINDS A BEAUTIFUL WAY TO HONOUR SEB...

CORONATION STREET | ITV FRIDAY

Nina comes up with a fitting way to remember her late boyfriend Seb this week – by building a memorial garden for him.

Nina's been in a world of pain since Seb died in a vicious hate attack. And the horrors of that night come flooding back to her when witness liaison officer Lauren calls by to speak with her...

"While Nina would love nothing more than to forget that night ever happened, the sad truth is that her ordeal is far from over," points out our cobbles spy. "The trial of Seb's attackers, Kelly and Corey, is on the horizon, and Nina's testimony will be crucial in determining the outcome. Yet the thought of getting up in court and reliving her nightmare fills Nina with dread."

While Nina attempts not to think about what lies ahead, Billy mentions a memorial vegetable garden that one of his parishioners put together for a lost loved one. Nina is taken with the idea, and goes to her uncle Roy to suggest she could do the same for Seb!

Keen to get the project under way, Nina sketches some designs and shows them to Abi – although Seb's mum doesn't seem as enthusiastic about the project. But after Ed kindly offers up a plot of land next to the builders' yard for the garden, Nina is thrilled.

Change the record, Billy!

Billy can't believe it when a rare album turns up on his stall...

KAT THROWS HIM A LIFELINE...

Billy manages to blow a golden opportunity this week, when a fairy godmother tries to change his life for the better.

After realising that Billy's been sleeping rough, Kat comes up with a plan to put money in his pocket without the proud fella realising that it's a charitable act.

She uses Phil's money to buy a rare record and then conspires with Jay to put it into Billy's hands. All Billy has to do is sell it and use the money to get himself back on his feet. However, in true Billy Mitchell style, he manages to sabotage himself.

"This is the answer to all Billy's prayers," shares our Square mole. "Kat asks Jay to plant the record and then bring it to Billy's attention, and when it goes up for sale, the bids flood in. It seems Billy will soon be able to afford to put a roof over his head and begin rebuilding his life. But, of course, it doesn't quite work out like that."

Before he can close a sale, Janet tells her daddy that she likes the record and wants to keep it. Unable to say no to his little girl, Billy hands it over, and Janet is delighted to start playing it. Kat can't believe it as she spies Janet with the pricey vinyl and goes to retrieve it.

But when she takes a closer look, she sees it has a big scratch and realises that no collector will pay big for a damaged item. Kat reckons the only option is for her and Phil to take Billy in. What will Phil say when his cousin arrives on their doorstep?

After launching a bid for custody, the Mitchell hard man fears that he'll never win and end up being cut out of his little boy's life. Devastated at the prospect, Phil reveals to lawyer Ritchie that he's considering taking drastic action. But as he gets ready to flee Walford with Raymond, can Kat make him see sense?

"What Phil is planning will destroy so many lives – including Raymond's!" warns our Walford insider. "After everything that little lad has been through, this would be too much for him to cope with. But Phil can't see the bigger picture, as he's desperate not to lose his boy. Kat's terrified he'll go through with it!"

through this twice before. His relationship with Ben was decimated by Kathy's decision to take him to South Africa, and they're still trying to work through their issues. And when ex Lisa snatched their daughter Louise, Phil's heart was smashed to smithereens. There's no way he'll allow Denise and the courts to take Raymond from him, so he can't see any way out of this. But he does give Kat one concession – she has until the end of the day to try to convince him there's another way.

“Talk about an impossible task!” whispers our snitch. “Once Phil Mitchell has made his mind up about something, that's usually the end of it. Kat might have some hope if she can talk Denise around, but given what happened the last time she did that, there's probably no hope. Denise despises Phil, and she has no intention of giving an inch, particularly since he went for custody.”

With all this fighting, nobody seems to be considering what's best for Raymond. Denise has every right to worry about Phil being part of her son's life – however, he is Raymond's father. Together they could give him a good life, but this custody battle is wrecking things for everyone. Can Kat find a way to unite them?

Summer Bay blast horror!

THE FOOD TRUCK GOES UP IN SMOKE...

Summer Bay is rocked by a huge explosion this week, when Ryder and Chloe's taco truck bursts into flames!

The potential for casualties is high, as the local area is bustling with people when the blast wreaks havoc across the beach. But after the dust settles and Ryder takes in the catastrophic scene, he realises that his girlfriend Chloe is missing...

"All of Ryder's attention is focussed on finding Chloe, and making sure she's safe," explains Lukas Radovich, who plays him. "So when he does locate her and realises that she's seriously injured, he's absolutely devastated."

Finding Chloe trapped underneath some debris, Ryder is grateful when Dean arrives on the scene, and helps pull her free. However, it soon becomes clear that Chloe's injuries are severe, and she's rushed to hospital – where she's taken straight into surgery.

Back at the scene of the accident, nurse Jasmine swings into action to help the wounded. But is she putting her own health at risk as she attempts to save others?

"Being the only nurse on the scene, Jas feels a responsibility to do as much as she can to look after everyone," reveals Sam Frost, who plays her. "It's chaos, and there isn't much time to think about anything

The walking wounded, including nurse Jas, tend to those seriously injured other than helping people who are in a critical condition."

Jas is hailed a hero for her quick-thinking, but tragedy soon strikes when she collapses with a suspected bleed on the brain! Will her heroic actions cost her dearly?

Meanwhile, Ryder points the finger at business rival Mac for causing the catastrophe! But would she stoop so low as to sabotage the truck?

"Due to the tension between Mac and Ryder, he jumps to the conclusion that she's involved," confirms Lukas.

James and his brother Michael are livid when an investigation concludes that PC Brody's decision to pull James over and arrest him

Rocky invites his music industry pal Jen to Walford to meet Whit

The nation's newest singing sensation is discovered in Walford this week, after Rocky hears Whitney belting out a tune, and introduces him to someone who could change her life forever.

He can't believe his ears once he hears Whit's beautiful voice, and goes so far as to make a recording of it. Rocky believes that Sonia's niece has what it takes to top the charts – so he shares the recording with his friend in the music industry to see if she agrees.

"After the year from hell she's had, Whitney deserves some good fortune," muses our Walford insider. "She has a lovely voice, and there's no doubt Whit's a beautiful girl too. That's a great combo when you want to be a pop star, but Rocky didn't check with Whitney that she has those sorts of ambitions."

Once Rocky reveals that his music promoter friend wants to meet Whit, she's stunned and horrified. The whole thing takes her by surprise, and she flat out refuses to even meet with the woman. But Rocky is nothing if not persistent, and he's determined to get Whitney in front of his contact, Jen.

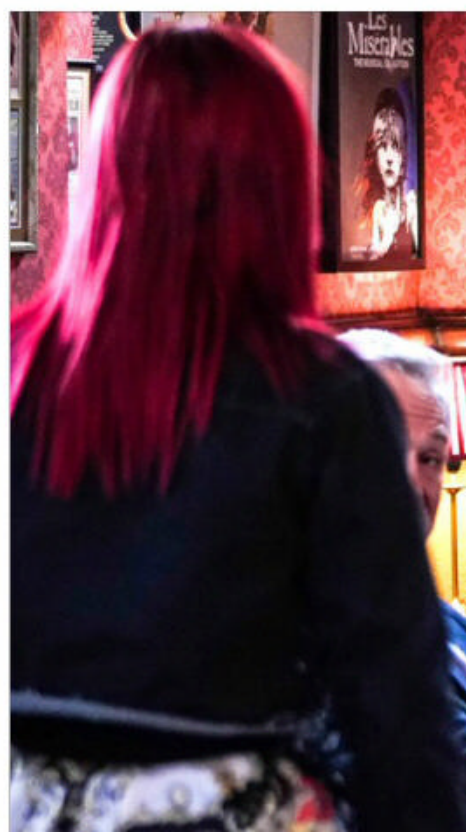

The very next day, Rocky brings Jen to Albert Square for a crucial meeting with Whitney and hopes this will persuade the amateur singer to get serious.

Obviously, Jen rates Whitney too, and she's intrigued to meet the girl behind the voice. However, if Whitney won't get involved, there isn't much Jen can do. Will Rocky find a way to convince Whit to grab this chance with both hands?

Kate White

Whitney is apprehensive about meeting Jen

Full of guilt over the hit-and-run, Frankie longs to make amends with Nancy. She's also worried that Nancy is drinking too much. But as the night takes its turn, it seems being banged up together might be a blessing in disguise for the sisters...

"Quality time in a prison cell certainly brings people together," laughs our mole. "Nancy can't stop off when Frankie tries to talk. There's so much love between them, and neither want things to be this way. There's no way a player like Zack should ruin what they have as sisters."

It's a relief when, after their heart-to-heart, Callum arrives with good news – the police have decided to let the girls go and take no further action. It seems unlikely that Nancy will head off with that group of girls now, and better yet, she has her sister back. Can Frankie bury her guilt and move on?

A LESSON IN CHECKING YOUR BRAKES BEFORE SETTING OUT ON A LONG JOURNEY...

CLASSIC EMMERDALE | ITV3 MON-FRI

Say what you like about Emmerdale: the show certainly knows how to crash a truck. Or a car, bus, helicopter, passenger jet or the Tate family's privately funded orbital rocket (falling on the Woolpack around autumn 2029, we imagine).

This week's classic stunt – starting a new century with a bang – is an absolute doozy, as Tate Haulage driver Pete finds that his brakes have failed just as his beast of a lorry careers through the village.

He swerves to avoid a pack of schoolchildren, and instead ploughs straight into a minibus on its way to the supermarket in town. The overloaded truck then topples over, crushing the passengers on the bus.

And – what are the chances? – just about everyone in the village has a reason to be on the bus today. Butch is off to see Emily's father. Seth is going shopping. Sarah and Victoria have medicine to collect. Frankie is taking little Joe Tate to look at Hotten

diagnosed with just

Bus Depot, the lucky lad. Marc is off to buy tickets for a Beck concert, which is so very 2000 of him.

The bloodthirsty will thrill to four deaths in total (though two are just random nobodies, which always feels like a cheat). The big tear-jerker is Butch, who survives just long enough to marry Emily in hospital.

But much as we like Butch, it's at his funeral when things get really interesting...

CLASSIC CORRIE | ITV3 MON-FRI

Caught in the cult!

Ashley is determined to rescue Zoe from the weirdo Etheric Foundation this week, and storms into a meeting to squeak furiously at them. Alarmed to find Zoe, creepy Ben and the other acolytes swaying and moaning in unison – which is strange as Hollyoaks isn't on until later – Ashley begs his friend to leave. However, Zoe is resolute, and announces that she is to be Ben's new sexual partner, and will be "purified" to become "a daughter of Nirab". And then off she goes to America – never to be heard of again! So the full time score is: Nirab 1, Ashley nil. We do love a happy ending.

And it's a busy old week elsewhere. Les almost dies from an overdose after stealing from Martin's drugs trolley at the hospital, while Tony slinks away, leaving mum Natalie shattered by the death of Des.

Oh, and top Broadway and West End star – and former Frank Spencer – Michael Crawford makes a cameo appearance in the Rovers. Look out for him in the Thursday 2.50pm episode – sadly not crooning The Music Of The Night before making off to the catacombs with Betty Turpin.

Time for TYRONE!

Will you just look at that cheeky ickle face?

This week, we welcome Tryone Dobbs to the Street – the son of foghorn jailbird Jackie (well, at least for now). It won't be long until he swaps his beloved Game Boy for girls – and then his troubles start!

CLASSIC EASTENDERS | Drama MON-FRI

Sanjay arrested for murder!

The world seems to close in on Sanjay this week, as he pops to the railway station to meet his wife Gita and daughter Sharmilla, only for them not to turn up on the expected train – or indeed any train after.

Sanjay reports his family missing, but is then staggered to find himself dragged to Walford nick to be questioned regarding their disappearance. Soon, circumstantial evidence – including a blood-stained blouse and some juicy gossip from Dot – has the police building a case of murder against our hapless market trader. So just what has happened to 'gone girl' Gita?

Meanwhile, Ian and Cindy are in court, where she is charged with abducting his children. Ian – smiling that simperingly smug smile of his – thinks it's an open-and-shut case, but is promptly knocked off his perch when Cindy pleads 'guilty' and basically gets away with the whole thing. Soon it's Ian himself who's dragged to the cells – charged with contempt of court for his impotent raging at the judge. Throw away the key!

LEAN ON ME...

I really love the friendship that's developing between Honey and Suki in EastEnders. There's something genuinely lovely about pairing up one of the harshest characters on the Square with one of the gentlest. And it's been great to see Suki's softer side coming out...

🗨️ | Tess, Wakefield

LONG LOST FAMILY

We know from when Dean met his biological father in Home and Away that he and Mac have other siblings. Wouldn't now be a good time to bring them in? Mac's mum could join too, so she can help her daughter through the bad time she's having. It would be great to see Dean and Mac get to know their other siblings as well...

🗨️ | Sharon, Doncaster

We'd love to see more of Dean and Mac's family turn up in the Bay – they'd bring huge drama!

from Waterloo Road. What if there was a Waterloo Road reunion on the Street? It'd be a chance for Natalie Barnes and Fiona Middleton [aka Waterloo Road's Steph Haydock and Kim Campbell] to come back and recognise Danielle – that would be a wonderful treat!

🗨️ | Joe

Lucy's no stranger to soap – she played Hollyoaks' Tilly Evans, too!

It's hardly the look of love

SPLITTING UP?

I've never been a big fan of Nicola in Emmerdale, though I feel for her after she found out about the kiss between Jimmy and Mandy. Nic and Jimmy have been through so much, and he's essentially just thrown away their marriage!

🗨️ | Richard, Kent

It's a tough blow for Nicola, but the pair might find their way back to each other eventually!

MESSY LOVE

It's easy to place blame on Leo for meddling in Nic and Chloe's relationship in Neighbours – but it's pretty clear that Chloe loves the attention from him! Talk about flirting, Chloe just can't help herself around Leo. I think Nic needs to keep a closer eye on her girlfriend before she strays.

🗨️ | Camille

Chloe does seem to be having second thoughts about her relationship with Nic.

Summer could still bring the heat to her revenge plan

DOWN THE AISLE

After all the meticulous planning by Summer in Hollyoaks, I was surprised that the wedding wasn't at all dramatic! No appearance from Buster, no big revelation about Brody killing her dad – it was a let-down, to be honest...

🗣️ | Lena, Northampton

We don't think Summer's revenge plan is over just yet!

LOOKING AHEAD

I'm so happy that Fenisha and Ethan are finally back together in spite of Ethan's many attempts to push her away. We know his illness will affect their relationship, though I think it's great that Casualty is showing true love has won! When Fenisha set everything up for her proposal so beautifully, and Ethan accepted, I actually cheered. I hope the scriptwriters give the two of them, and baby Bodhi, plenty of happiness from now on...

🗣️ | Ann, Runcorn

It's certainly been a long time coming for these two...

STICKING AROUND?

Brian Conley has brought some much-needed laughs and a great character in Rocky to Albert Square. Rocky will become the mainstay of the soap if allowed. Already he can be compared favourably to Mike Reid, who played Frank Butcher!

🗣️ | Sylvia, Hampshire

We're hoping Rocky will be staying in Walford for a while yet.

TRUTH AND BEAUTY

It's been a tough watch recently in EastEnders, witnessing Tiff and Bernie drastically attempt to alter their appearances. However, are the pair being reckless in doing so?

The hardest thing for me about these storylines is watching the girls hating on their looks when they're absolutely beautiful! No changes needed for either Tiff or Bernie, I say!

🗣️ | Bernard, Nottingham

I can't imagine Keegan will be pleased when he finds out about Tiff's diet pill side-hustle. Hopefully he'll stick by her, though – Tiff is obviously going through a difficult time herself. It would be a good time for Keegan to sit up and pay attention to her.

🗣️ | Erin

Is it just me or did Bernie not look overly impressed with being pregnant? And also, if she's struggling with weight gain at the moment, just wait until pregnancy hits. I didn't stop gaining weight when I was carrying my children.

🗣️ | Annabelle, Essex

Some viewers have been less sympathetic about Bernie and Tiff's actions...

In my opinion, Bernie has been very selfish in agreeing to be Rainie's surrogate and then taking diet pills. Rainie and Stuart have placed a huge amount of trust in her, and she's risking the health of their unborn baby!

🗣️ | Agnes, Watford

If anything happens with Bernie's baby, Tiff needs to take some of the blame. Who gives their pregnant friend diet pills in the first place?

🗣️ | Nina

We'll have to wait and see the outcome of it all...

FAMILIAR FACES

In EastEnders, I recognised Isaac's social worker, but I can't place him. Where do I know him from?

Mental health worker Rafe Vaughan is played by Daniel Boys. While Daniel hasn't appeared in soap before – apart from one episode of Holby – he's no stranger to TV. The star rose to fame in 2007, when he competed in Andrew Lloyd Webber's show Any Dream Will Do, which aimed to find the next star of Joseph And The Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat. Daniel later won a competition to record a new version of the Neighbours theme with Stephanie Angelini, which aired in 2013.

THE BIG interview

“I hope George doesn’t leave in a wooden box!”

Tony Maudsley has high hopes for his Corrie legacy, as he lifts the lid on his star-studded career – and reflects on his sun-soaked years in Benidorm...

CORONATION STREET | ITV WEDNESDAY

Dropping Kenneth’s snazzy hot pants in Benidorm to pick up George’s sombre funeral suits in Weatherfield, means actor Tony Maudsley has undergone quite the TV transformation in recent times! However, despite ITV’s smash-hit holiday sitcom being one of the best acting jobs he’s ever had, the 53-year-old star still can’t quite believe that he’s treading the cobbles on Britain’s most famous street.

“I think fans of Kenneth fully expected me to join Corrie and go to work in Audrey’s salon playing the same character!” grins Tony, who played Benidorm’s camp crimper for seven years, before joining the Street in 2020. “I was thrilled to bits that Corrie trusted me to throw off Kenneth’s shackles and put on some full-length trousers for George. And I feel like the luckiest guy in the world to have found my new telly family!”

While George’s day job focuses on the dead, Weatherfield’s local funeral director has come alive since meeting Eileen. However, as the pair struggle to strike the right chord for romance, star Tony is optimistic about what the future holds – and even goes so far as to sound wedding bells for the pair...

Hi, Tony! How would you sum up almost 12 months on the cobbles?

I think I’m approaching my one-year anniversary as we speak! It’s been a funny old year, obviously, as I didn’t have the normal Corrie initiation where you’d be taken out for drinks with your classmates. People tried their best, but we’ve been stood metres apart on set wearing masks for most of it!

Tony on...

CORRIE CAMPING!

“Sue Cleaver invited me on a camping trip with some of the Corrie gang recently and all she did was laugh at the size of my tent! Hers is so big it has bedrooms, whereas mine was just a little two-man thing. I was going to put it in the bin, but Sue has nabbed it to use as her portaloo tent!”

Pitch perfect: Tony and his co-stars had a great time on their camping trip

“George doesn’t know how to handle the onslaught of female attention...”

Blast from the past:
Tony appeared in Corrie in the 90s

Are we right in thinking that you've appeared in Corrie before?

This show was my first job out of drama school, would you believe? I did two scenes in the 90s playing a henchman, who was paid by Alec Gilroy to rough-up Steve McDonald – as he was going out with Alec's granddaughter, Vicky. So that's crazy. I've come full circle!

Did you know anyone else on the Street other than Simon Gregson (aka Steve) when you returned as George last year?

I went to drama school with Lisa George [Beth] and I knew Ali King [Carla] – and I worked with Mikey North [Gary] on a show called Place Of Execution years ago. I must have taken Mikey on a very drunken night out, as he reminded me about a time that I'd fallen out of an elevator!

How did you feel about your character being paired up with formidable Eileen?

Well, I already knew Sue [Cleaver, who plays her], which was a real lifeline coming in to play Eileen's love interest. We played husband and wife 20 years ago in a BBC cop show called City Central.

CONTINUED OVER ➤

Tony on...

LOVE FOR GEORGE!

"I remember reading my scripts and thinking, 'Gosh – George is going to start wooing Mary and Gail, too'! He was just as confused as everyone else as to why these women were fighting over him, but I think that's part of his charm. George seems to be casting spells over these women, yet he doesn't know how to handle the onslaught of female attention!"

Hot stuff: ladies on the cobbles find the fella irresistible

Tony on...

MAKING MAGIC!

"I played Grawp in Harry Potter: The Order Of The Phoenix, and it was one of the hardest jobs I've ever done playing half-human, half-monster! I was weighed down with these huge monster feet that were so heavy, that I could never get to the canteen and back in time. They had to give me a golf buggy!"

Extreme makeover: Tony as half-human, half-monster Grawp

I played twins, one of whom had a peanut allergy and was married to Sue's character, while the other fancied her and was trying to kill his sibling! Anyway, myself and Sue kept in touch over the years, so when I was asked to come in to read with her for the part of George, it was as if we'd never been apart.

Sue and Tony's chemistry is evident on screen, yet their characters are still dancing around their feelings! George and Eileen struggle to get their act together this week – especially after the kindly undertaker learns that his job makes her skin crawl! Can Eileen overcome her phobia to take a chance on George? Or will she put the final nail in the coffin where romance is concerned?

How does George feel about Eileen's admission, Tony?

Blimey, she's a tough nut to crack is old Eileen! I think George is half-scared of her, and half-besotted with her. He's enjoying the thrill of the chase, yet George is devastated when he overhears Eileen telling Mary that she finds his job creepy. He's proud of the service he provides for the community!

Do you find playing a funeral director creepy?

Well, it's a beautiful set that we have for George's funeral parlour, and his sofas are the envy of everyone on Coronation Street! There can be comedy in death, but then we do sad scenes, the comedy goes out the window – and rightly so. Actually, Sue and I have been invited on a field trip to a real-life funeral parlour by the company that Corrie uses to hire George's hearse, which I think will be useful for us in the long-term. At the moment, I'm just using my imagination for this stuff.

Are you and Sue rooting for George and Eileen to get together?

Yeah, we are! I tweeted a picture of us on Twitter the other day from our camping trip [see p42], and the picture

"People say that they want George and Eileen to be the new Jack and Vera..."

Leading lady:
Tony has acted opposite Reese
Witherspoon

Tony on...

HOLLYWOOD HEAVYWEIGHTS!

"Very early on in my career, I worked with Johnny Depp on the film Sleepy Hollow. At the time, I'd stopped smoking for three years – but Johnny invited me for a roll-up round the back of the set, and I couldn't say no! So, there I was trying to look cool with Johnny, while choking on a cigarette. I appeared in Vanity Fair with Reese Witherspoon too. It's been a pretty lovely career!"

Snap happy: Sue and Tony are good friends off screen

Eileen arriving at the church in a big white dress on the back of a hearse! If they do get married, I hope it's not a quiet registry office do. Let's go big and put Sue in a huge meringue!

Finally, as the Street's undertaker are you praying that George doesn't leave the show in a wooden box?

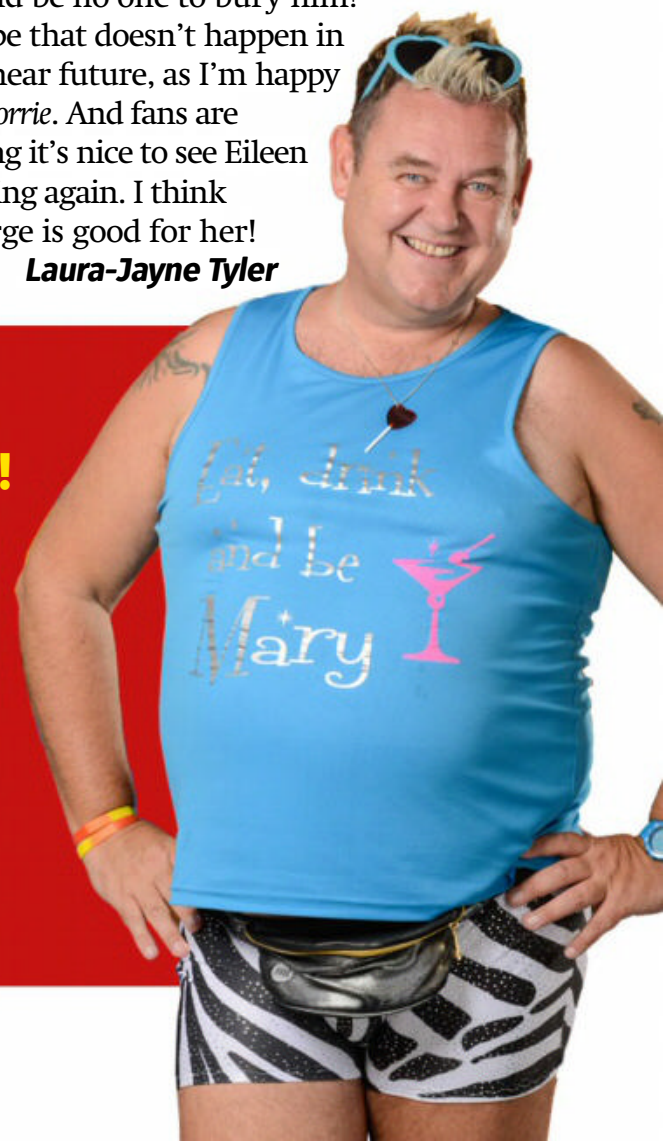

They can't get rid of George, as there would be no one to bury him! I hope that doesn't happen in the near future, as I'm happy on Corrie. And fans are saying it's nice to see Eileen smiling again. I think George is good for her!

Laura-Jayne Tyler

Tony on...

SUN, SEA AND HOT PANTS!

"Benidorm was like a holiday with a bit of work thrown in on the side. We worked hard, but we played hard, too. I used to time my nights out to coincide with scenes where Kenneth was hungover on a sun lounger, and the make-up department loved me for it! I must say, though, what I'm missing most about Kenneth during this lovely weather that we're having is his hot pants. They weren't pretty on a 50-year-old man, but God they were comfortable!"

has had nearly 3,000 likes with so many lovely comments. People say that they want George and Eileen to be the new Jack and Vera, which is the biggest compliment. Those characters were so special and so brilliant.

We'd love a wedding for George and Eileen, what do you reckon?

Oh, me too! I have visions of it all going horribly wrong, though, with “Sarah is consumed by fear!”

“I’m so pleased that Emmerdale is revisiting Sarah’s dramatic past,” says Dales actress Katie Hill, as we catch up with her about her character’s latest plot. “It’s been such a touching storyline from the very start. When I played out the heart-transplant stuff, I knew that one day it would be emotional to get back into it, and for Sarah to try to find out the identity of her donor...”

It’s safe to say that Debbie’s daughter never had the easiest of childhoods, being in and out of hospital. Three years ago, Sarah underwent a heart transplant. But after Leanna’s recent murder, Sarah begins to re-evaluate everything about herself – including her health history.

“Leanna’s death has had quite an impact on Sarah,” explains Katie. “It leaves Sarah worrying about her own life, and how this could happen to her. Sarah has a very problematic medical history, and the doctors have told her that she might have a shortened life. So with Leanna dying and everything going on with Granny Faith's mystery illness, all her fears are definitely heightened."

And matters are made worse for Sarah when she suddenly becomes ill again – and this time, she believes her time is up.

"Sarah sees Liam at the graveyard, and as he's talking about Leanna, Sarah begins to panic – she just can't catch her breath," explains Katie. "What Liam says about Leanna dying too young hits close to home. Sarah goes back home in a bad state – she's consumed by utter fear..."

Ultimately, Sarah's health scare encourages her to look into the family of her heart donor – and, thanks to Cain, she's given all the information she needs to find them.

"Sarah believes she has the answers," reveals Katie. "Cain and Belle are hesitant about her writing to the family of her donor, mostly as they don't know how Sarah will react to hearing from them. Will it help settle her anxiety? Or will it just make it worse for her?

"But Sarah needs to know about them, and I can tell you that she's really determined," continues the 18-year-old.

"Sarah starts investigating things for herself, and she does find someone in the family who agrees to meet her..."

Meanwhile, with viewers living through 15 years of Sarah's traumas, it's safe to say they've become invested in her future.

"It was funny, when Sarah started acting out a while back, I think they assumed she'd turn into a naughty teenager," laughs Katie. "Everyone felt sorry for Sarah when she was in and out of hospital – she went through a lot as a young girl. However, I think she'll always have part of that sweetness and loving side to her, and that's the side I really love to play out."

"Oh, Sally's just so much fun to work with!" she laughs. "With her around, there's never a dull day on set – she's hilarious. We've been working together a lot recently as Sarah's so worried about Faith's health – it's nice that our characters have such a close bond. Sally's so talented too, it's been a pleasure working opposite her!"

NEIGHBOURS | Channel 5 MONDAY

I've always been known for playing 'goodie' characters, so it's been fun to show that Curtis has some fight in him!" laughs Neighbours' star Nathan

Borg, as we chat to him about his alter ego. "The reaction from fans has been brilliant, too. What they really like about Curtis is that he hasn't come to Erinsborough to kill anyone or break up a relationship – he's in town for himself and his career."

Initially, new teacher Curtis ruffled feathers at Erinsborough High, resulting in some friction between him and Jane Harris. But despite the prickly atmosphere, Nathan tells us it couldn't be more different behind the scenes...

"Annie [Jones, aka Jane] is the loveliest person you'll ever meet," reveals Nathan. "We get along so well. I've always been a fan of the show – I used to watch it with my sisters every day after school. Before I joined, I really wanted to work with Annie and Jackie [Woodburne, who plays Susan], so when my first scenes were with them both, I couldn't have been more excited!"

Curtis has proved to be a dedicated tutor after working with difficult students Hendrix and Brent. But Nathan's not sure he could do the same...

"I really don't think I could be a teacher!" he exclaims. "The funny thing is that Curtis teaches maths, which I was so bad at at school. I just came to the conclusion that Curtis is very smart, and I'm not!"

His teaching career aside, Curtis has been secretly dating Flamingo Bar

Cracker-Jack: Nathan's having a ball working with the soap icon

Me and Mrs Jones: Nathan was thrilled that his first scenes in the soap were with Annie worker, Jesse – and their romance comes as shock to everyone...

“Roxy is the first one to see them together,” shares Nathan. “Their relationship is very much on the down-low and, as you’ll see, Jesse is in two minds about it. And Curtis doesn’t know the whole story. It’s interesting when I watch the episodes back, because I know the real Jesse, and Curtis has no idea! It’s safe to say he ends up feeling quite betrayed.”

Not only is Nathan new to the Neighbours cast, he’s also the first hard-of-hearing actor to appear on Australian television.

“It’s a big responsibility,” he admits. “But it’s also a huge honour. I wanted to pave the way for diversity, and show that deaf artists can work in the industry, too. It’s given me so many opportunities to connect with other hard-of-hearing actors in Australia and the UK, which is awesome.

“I get a lot of messages from members of the deaf community, too,” adds Nathan. “A lot of people reach out to me, which is just amazing...”

MORGANS REUNITED!

Kelly Condon makes a dramatic return as Luke’s sister, Zara...

Gone too Sue: Luke was crushed by his mother’s passing

Zara Morgan returns to Chester this week, to confront her brother Luke after not being invited to their mum’s funeral. Zara soon decides to stick around, but it’s clear that she isn’t everyone’s up of tea. We catch up with star Kelly Condon – who tells us what it’s like to be back at Hollyoaks to reprise her role as Zara after 22 years away...

Hi Kelly! So how does it feel to be in Hollyoaks again?

Well, it’s been a while, but I’m very happy to be here! Everything is totally different, the sets have changed hugely. Though at the same time, there’s something so familiar about it.

What’s the sibling relationship like between Zara and Luke?

Zara gives Luke a hard time about their mum at first. However, they’ve always been close, and Luke’s always been there for Zara when she’s in trouble – there’s still that kindness between them.

What was it like to be reunited with your on-screen brother, Gary Lucy?

Gary looks exactly the same! He’s always felt like my big brother, so to see him again was lovely. And Nick [Pickard, who plays Tony] too. I’ve had a few scenes with him as well since returning – I think the last time I saw him was at my wedding 16 years ago...

How do you think the Hollyoaks viewers will react to having Zara on screen again?

Well, I think there will be two camps. One will be happy to see her and remember Zara – but the other side will go, “Who is she?” Some of the viewers weren’t even born when Zara was around the first time!

What kind of thing can we expect from Zara now she’s back?

Zara has a heart of gold, but sometimes she can say things in the wrong way. She’s very passionate about slowing climate change, and wants to get the whole village on board with environmental changes.

But it’s fair to say that a few other characters don’t agree with her ideas...

CASUALTY STAR OLIVIA D'LIMA REVEALS ALL ABOUT THE RUN-UP TO FENISHA AND ETHAN'S WEDDING...

It's been a very rocky road for Fenisha and Ethan," laughs Olivia D'Lima, as we catch up with her before her alter ego ties the knot in Casualty's much-anticipated wedding. "After all the pain, stress and near-death experiences, they deserve a beautiful wedding and an amazing life together. Fenisha absolutely believes that she and Ethan will get their happily ever after!"

However, will the pair get their wish? We quiz Olivia to find out...

Hi, Olivia! So, were you happy to read that Ethan and Fenisha were finally getting together after so long?

Definitely! I knew in advance that this day was coming, but I loved reading the progression in the scripts each week. At last, this couple who always seem to miss each other's signals are on the same page.

And how is Fenisha feeling on the day of her wedding?

I'd love to say she's feeling calm and relaxed – but Fenisha is an absolute whirlwind. She and Ethan can't wait to spend their lives together, so they've rushed to put together a beautiful little eco-friendly wedding. But Fenisha's bitten off more than she can chew with the wedding prep!

Ethan is also waiting on his Huntington's disease test results – why does Fenisha want him to wait until after the wedding to get them?

She wants nothing more than for Ethan to enjoy every second of his life. And she wants their wedding day to be blissful, full of love and laughter – not full of medicine and diagnoses. If it was bad news, they would be distraught – they both deserve one good day together before the results.

How does Fenisha end up running late for her own wedding?

Fenisha has a terrible habit of taking on more responsibility than she should. She believes she can do everything and while that may be true, she can't do it all at once. Then, to make matters worse, her cab cancels on her...

Tells us what happens with her ex-fiancé, Matthew?

Matthew offers Fenisha a lift to her wedding, which is very weird. Imagine turning up to your wedding in your ex's car, who you recently broke up with for a second time! But if it gets her to Ethan, then Fenisha will do whatever it takes.

How do you think viewers will react to this episode?

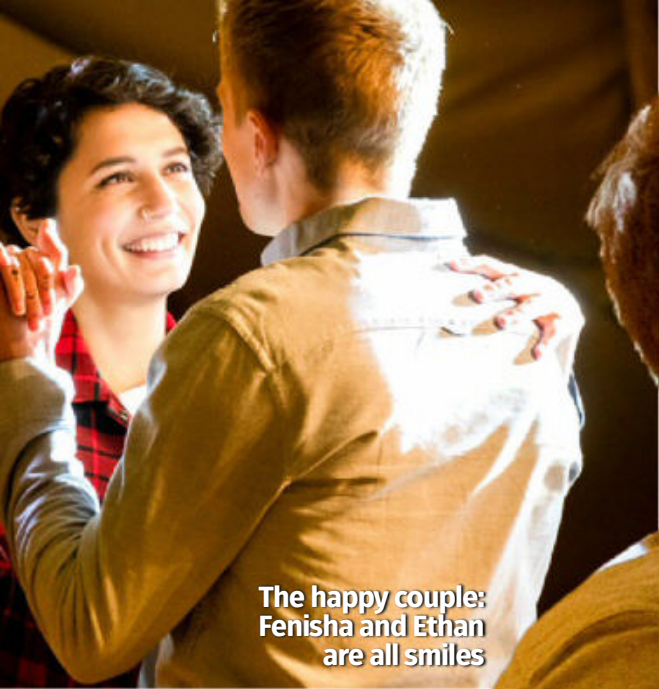

They will love seeing Ethan in his suit and seeing most of the characters dressed up, excited for a wonderful day ahead! Ethan goes to his brother Cal's grave, which will be really emotional. I know the audience loved Cal so much so it will be a lovely little walk down memory lane. I hope the fans will also be excited to see Fenisha's parents, the gorgeous reception venue and my favourite outfit of the series!

With the wedding scenes set to air shortly, what are you most excited about?

I am just so excited to share our work, but also the stunning wedding dress that I get to wear – it's so Fenisha. The viewers are used to seeing the cast at the hospital in our paramedic greens or scrubs, and I can't wait for them to see the characters' personalities outside of work...

TIED AT THE HIP!

They play on-screen lovers, but off-screen, Olivia and George Rainsford (Ethan) are the best of pals...

"The best thing about working with George is the constant giggles, for sure!" exclaims Olivia. "We live together in Cardiff while we film and, honestly, no one can ever shut us up. We are always chatting and always giggling."

"We just have the same sense of humour, and I can sometimes even predict his jokes before they come out of his mouth! We complement each other in the way we work together, and hopefully we've created a beautiful and memorable on-screen love story – it's one that I won't forget..."

THE BIG STORIES

SHOCK ATTACK!

Toyah's night out with hunky mechanic Scott Kingston ended in horror when she was raped in the ginnell behind the Street. Toyah struggled to recover, and things were made worse once her attacker was revealed as Phil Simmonds, a homeless man she had tried to help.

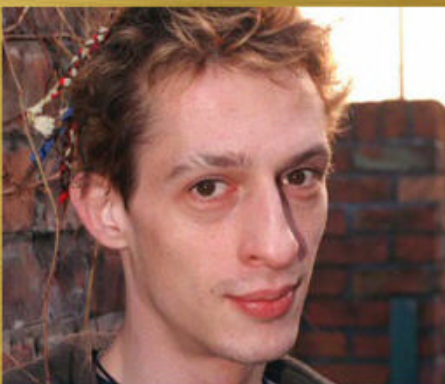

THE KEY RELATIONSHIPS

LEANNE

While Toyah and Leanne aren't actually related by blood – Leanne is Les' daughter and Leanne is Janice's – you couldn't meet two closer or more fiercely loyal sisters. Cross them at your peril!

SPIDER

You never forget your first love, and Spider and Toyah seemed made for each other. The eco warrior ignited Toyah's passion for environmentalism, with the pair even sabotaging Freshco supermarket during one of their protests.

IMRAN

Toyah's current beau, stuffy lawyer Imran might seem a million miles away from free and easy Spider, but he and Toyah share a sense of purpose – as their fostering of young Kelly is proving...

ABDUCTION!

After arguing with Janice and stepdad Les, Toyah ran away to London to find her biological father, Ronnie Clegg. However, things went awry when she came across Neil Flynn, who pretended to be her dad and abducted her. Fortunately, Toyah managed to escape after Neil took her to some woods, and she was later found by Janice and Les, who had arrived in London in search of their daughter.

SECRET LOVE!

After 13 years away, Toyah returned, and Leanne was delighted to be reunited with her sister. However, her delight was short-lived once she discovered Toyah was getting jiggy with Peter – Leanne's ex-husband! Peter and Toyah's relationship hit the skids after her desperation for a baby led her to strike a secret deal with pregnant Eva Price...

THE CLASSIC SCENE

Toyah is upset that Spider is dating Lorraine – and while smoking a cigarette, she has a heart-to-heart with her sister Leanne...

TOYAH “I just wish I could change him back again to the way he was.”

LEANNE “How do you mean?”

TOYAH “Back to himself. Before he got stupid over that tarty Lorraine...”

LEANNE “Hey...”

TOYAH “I think he just used me, Lee. He did, didn't he?”

LEANNE “Oh, come on, don't get all upset.”

TOYAH “I am upset, he only wanted me around when I was useful. Saving the Red Rec, helping him get votes. He don't give a toss about me really.”

LEANNE “Oh, come on. You're gonna spoil your fag. You don't need him, Toyah.”

Dotty Cotton

I've only been here for two years, but Dotty's still changed a lot since then.

When she came to Albert Square as a child with her dad, Nick, you saw that Dotty had grown up fast for her age. And it was clear that she hadn't been raised in a household of love, care and comfort!

"The way I view Dotty is that the world hasn't treated her well – so why would she treat other people well? But since I've been playing her, she's made some real connections of a kind she never had before.

She has friends. Vinny, Tiffany and Keegan are now people she genuinely cares about. Dotty's definitely softened, and she's grown up too. Now she's a 20-year-old woman and less of a devil child!"

I still can't believe that I got to work with the actual Dot Cotton.

There are so many memorable moments with June [Brown], and all of them were so surreal. The first time I saw her, she was sitting down eating apple pie and smoking at the same time [laughs] – just like Dot! June's everything you want her to be – and she's absolutely hilarious. A true legend. To get to work and spend time with June – who I've watched on television since I was a kid – was just amazing."

“Dotty was at her lowest when she told Sharon about Dennis’ death. It took so much courage for Dotty to open up, as she had been sitting on the secret for months. Then, when she finally did the right thing and told Sharon, it was all thrown back in her face! It was like everyone in Albert Square had turned against her. The other thing was that she ended up carrying her father’s reputation – she just couldn’t shake Nick off. I think that brought up a lot of trauma with her dad from the past as well. “On the other side, I loved it! Getting to film in the Vic with two legends like Adam Woodyatt [Ian] and Letitia Dean [Sharon]... It doesn’t get better than that!”

“Ian is one person who really clashed with Dotty, and she knew how to get under his skin. It was quite funny to have a 19-year-old girl arguing with an adult man. I just loved those scenes with Adam. We were just going back and forth, back and forth – we had lots of fun with it!”

“I’d love to see Dotty have more screen time with Suki Panesar. I can see the two of them working together – and Dotty is a business girl after all! Suki’s like an older version of Dotty in many ways. Plus, Suki and her daughter, Ash, don’t see eye to eye – they’re very different people. Dotty could be like the daughter that Suki never had! Either that or Dotty could have something to do with the Mitchells and all the dodgy business they get up to...”

“Dotty always says what she thinks and that’s the best part about playing her. She’s never afraid to voice exactly what’s on her mind, with no thought for the repercussions. I don’t think many people can say they do that in life! Sometimes I try to channel her, and think: ‘What would Dotty do?’. I adore her feistiness, especially as a woman. I feel like men get to play these types of characters all the time – but it’s rare you see a woman who just doesn’t care what other people think.”

“Dotty’s best friend is Tiffany – more than that, they’re step-cousins! Dotty doesn’t have a lot of family she can turn to, or who look out for her. She really can count all of her friends on one hand. Tiffany’s never been anything but nice to Dotty – she’s a lovely girl. And Tiff’s given Dotty a lot of chances, time and time again. Dotty even put Tiff in a bin one time – and they came back from that [laughs]! I think Dotty would be sad if she ever lost Tiff. Dotty doesn’t really have any other girl friends.”

INNER THOUGHTS

SURANNE JONES TELLS US WHY SHE WAS KEEN TO MAKE A DRAMA ABOUT MENTAL HEALTH...

The first series of one-off dramas from BAFTA-winning writer/director Dominic Savage debuted on Channel 4 two years ago, to critical acclaim. A second run of hour-long films gets under way this week, with each taking the name of its lead character.

I Am Victoria features Doctor Foster and Gentleman Jack star Suranne Jones as Victoria, with the two remaining instalments – I Am Danielle and I Am Maria [see right] – airing over the next two weeks, and available immediately as a box set on All4. The films have been developed by Dominic in collaboration with the leading actress, with some of the scenes being improvised, rather than scripted in a traditional way.

In this week's film, Victoria seemingly has the perfect family, job and life. However, she's suffering in silence...

"Mental health problems can happen to anyone at any time," points out Suranne. "It's not about the pandemic, but a lot of people have experienced what Victoria is going through. We meet her as she's about to have a breakdown, and see her unravelling within a few days. I wanted to push myself out of my comfort zone, to see what it would bring out."

Victoria's husband Christian is played by Ashley Walters, and Suranne couldn't be more delighted with the casting.

"Ashley was actually on my 'desperately want to work with' list!" she tells us. "We worked on a drama called Five Days [back in 2010], but we didn't have any scenes together. I love his work, so I mentioned him to Dominic."

"Mental health is still quite a taboo subject," suggests Ashley. "People find it hard to talk about, especially men. So, I think that this is a very good reminder that people can be experiencing mental health problems on the inside, even though no one can see that on the outside."

"Watching Suranne work, knowing her connection to the character, was so eye-opening for me," he adds. "Working with her has been brilliant. She's a true professional, and she makes me step up my game!"

I AM MARIA

In the third and final film, Maria (Lesley Manville) is at a crossroads in her life. She feels suffocated in her marriage to John (Michael Gould) – however, her 60th birthday sparks clarity...

"I haven't gone through what Maria does," explains Lesley. "However, I have been through lots of other emotions in my life – some of them wonderful and some of them painful."

As he stars as Nadeem in Baptiste's second – and final – series, Ace Bhatti tells us his top televisual treats...

Hello, Ace! What have you been most enjoying on TV recently?

I've been watching quite a lot of documentaries on science and art: the drama and pain that some of these scientists and artists went through when they weren't believed, or were trying to push the boundaries, is just heart-breaking. And some of the facts are totally mind-blowing.

What's your favourite comedy programme?

It doesn't get repeated very often nowadays, but I'm still a big fan of My Name Is Earl.

What were your favourite shows when you were growing up?

As a kid, I'd watch The Banana Splits, Tiswas, Stig Of The Dump and Grange Hill.

And was there a kids' cartoon that you were particularly fond of?

Oh, yes – I used to love watching Hong Kong Phooey!

What's your favourite show to relax and unwind in front of?

I have to say, I quite enjoyed watching Blown Away on Netflix – which isn't as vicious as it sounds! It's a glass-blowing competition, and it's amazing to watch the skill involved, but awful when they've spent hours making these beautiful glass pieces, only for them to shatter in the blink of an eye.

Are there any of your previous roles that you'd like to play again?

I've been incredibly lucky in that I've been able to play some pretty varied parts throughout my career – Haresh Chandra in The Sarah Jane Adventures, Yusef Khan in EastEnders, Sindwhani in Line Of Duty – but that makes it too hard to pick out just one! I'm really excited by what the future holds, though, and hopefully I'll be lucky enough to play even more diverse roles.

If you could choose to be in any other programme, what would it be?

I'd have liked to have been in Life On Mars. How far back in time do you have to go before it's termed as a period piece? I'd love to be in a period drama, but the 70s – when Life On Mars is set – was my childhood! I'm still a bit confused about the fashion choices of the time: were they really cool or were they not? Who knows!

HAVE I GOT VIEWS FOR YOU!

COMEDY COUPLE PAUL MERTON AND SUKI WEBSTER TAKE IN THE COUNTRY'S MOST SCENIC SPOTS AS THEY TOUR THE UK VIA MOTORHOME...

MOTORHOMING WITH MERTON & WEBSTER | Channel 5 FRIDAY

During a time when staycations are more popular (or necessary) than ever, this new six-parter follows married comedians Paul Merton and Suki Webster, as they immerse themselves in the wonderful world of motorhoming.

Paul and Suki seek out the UK's most famous sights and hidden gems – relishing the freedom to park up anywhere and enjoy the views en route. Inside TV spoke to the comedy couple to find out more...

Hi, both! Tell us about the motorhome you're using...

Suki It's not the biggest on the market, but compared to some it's a large, very swanky, stylish motorhome. We were spoiled!

Paul It's about 20ft long and 9ft wide, and when we first got it, we thought it was a bit cramped. But after a while, we realised it was pretty spacious compared with a lot of others.

Suki There's a small kitchen, a divider to the bathroom, and another to the bedroom. It's all very well laid out, and you have every facility that you'd get with modern-day living, just in a more compact space. Paul And there's a lot of storage space, and tables and chairs. You could be sitting outside eating a croissant and a banana with a cup of coffee, while looking at the sea!

What interesting places have you been to visit?

Suki We've been all over: the Lake District, Peak District, Somerset, Wales, Norfolk...

Paul Kent was the first one that we did. We went to the Romney Hythe & Dymchurch Railway, did a bit of fishing in Dungeness, and we stayed at a beautiful campsite not far from Dover, on this big, green hill overlooking the sea. It was stunning, waking up to that.

Was there anywhere that you hadn't been before, that took you by surprise?

Paul I would say the Brecon Beacons. Every time you turn a corner, as you go up the mountainside, you'd see another view open up in front of you. Suki One of the things that surprised me the most was how distinctive each part of the country is. I thought I was fairly familiar with the English countryside, but actually, you knew you were in a different area because the architecture was so different. Like the Lake District's dry stone walls; you don't see those down south.

How did you find other road-users reacted to your huge campervan?

Paul It was interesting: on roads where there's only space for one vehicle and you're doing the speed limit, some drivers would get really irritated about being stuck behind you, which they wouldn't have done if you'd been a normal car. So they'd aggressively overtake – then be surprised to see a Range Rover in front of us with a camera sticking out of it!

A COUNTRY LIFE FOR HALF THE PRICE WITH KATE HUMBLE | Channel 5 TUESDAY

A NEW LEAF!

KATE HUMBLE BRINGS US MORE TALES OF THOSE FOLK WHO'VE OPTED FOR A SIMPLER WAY OF LIFE...

If you've been thinking about cashing in your chips, leaving the bright lights of the city for a more peaceful (and cheaper) life in the countryside, you're certainly not alone. In the second series of A Country Life For Half The Price, Kate Humble has been meeting yet more people who have decided to 'go green'...

"It's about lifestyle," reckons Kate. "Every single one of the families in the show had been thinking long and hard about it. But what the pandemic has done is to coalesce those thoughts. It's made people think, 'Life is short, you never know what's around the corner. Instead of idly dreaming, let's get on with it!'"

“ WE SOMETIMES FORGET THAT NATURE IS VERY GOOD FOR US!”

What's the pig idea?: Ash and Helen hope to give their kids a petting zoo sometimes forget that nature is really good for us! We do better when we're surrounded by trees, so that's been an added incentive for people to put their plans into practice."

Having made the move to the country herself, Kate feels able to dish out tips to those following in her footsteps...

"I'm not a property guru, so I'm not advising anyone on the right or wrong way to buy," she admits. "But if people are considering getting livestock, or are thinking of starting a rural business – both of which I've done – I can give some personal insight. I really want to do my bit to enable families to achieve their ambitions!"

Tom Spilsbury

Moving on: Helen, Ash, and sons Ben and Joe left their two-bedroom bungalow behind

TAKE OFF WITH BRADLEY & HOLLY | BBC1 6PM

DON'T Miss!

Fasten your seatbelts

Holly Willoughby and Bradley Walsh bring us episode two of their game show tonight – but don't expect Holly to know the answers to the questions she's asking! "I'm no good at general knowledge," she admits.

"Brad is great at it, though – he's like a general knowledge sponge! I think the game I'd be best at is 'Final Call', where you have to guess the timings." Although the pair are giving away fab holidays, Holly's had a few nightmare vacations...

"I've had lost luggage, and missed a flight," she says. "I think I've ticked all the boxes of nightmare travel in my time! Before we had mobiles, I was travelling home from Lanzarote and my flight got cancelled – I had no way to ring my mum!"

DON'T Miss!

Farmalade!

A LAKE DISTRICT FARM SHOP | Channel 4 8PM

The Farm Shop closes its doors tonight – at least for now – with the final programme in the series. If you're a fan of marmalade (does Paddington read Inside Soap?), there's a treat in store for you, as the lady of a Cumbrian manor reveals a book filled with delicious marmalade recipes, which could be used as the key ingredient in a new cake to be sold at the services. Meanwhile, there's a festive feeling in the air! Yes, Christmas is already on the way, and the services' design team – brother and sister Lucien and Helen – transform the shop into a magical winter wonderland...

BLIND AMBITION | BBC2 10PM

Look for positives

This documentary follows television director Jamie O'Leary, who has myopia – extreme short-sightedness. And while the average person who has the condition has a prescription of minus 2.5, Jamie's is minus 32! He's about to undergo eye surgery, which, if successful, could greatly improve his life. However, there's a worrying possibility that the operation could lead to sight loss.

In this film, Jamie finds out how artistic types cope with losing their sight, and how blind artists achieve their creative visions. He's hooked up with blind comedian Jamie MacDonald, and the two set off on a road trip, where they meet some of the UK's most inspiring blind creatives.

BAPTISTE | BBC1 9PM

Baptiste surely has to be the mostly tightly packed series on telly right now. Although every episode is 60 minutes long, it really feels as though there's enough plot in each one for a two-hour movie. We're now up to the third episode of this six-part series, so there are certainly a lot more twists to come, and you'd be wise not to come to any conclusions just yet. In tonight's instalment, as Julien and Zsafia investigate the far right politician Kamilla Agoston, Emma discovers a lead on Alex's computer. As she and Julien follow the trail, they are led to a shocking – and bloody – discovery...

JERK | BBC3

Tonight welcomes a second series of the black comedy following taboo-busting Tim Renkow as a heightened version of himself: someone who uses the fact that he has cerebral palsy to try to get away with saying and doing anything. Really, anything. He knows full well that he makes other people feel uncomfortable – because he does it on purpose. And as Tim tells Inside TV, his alter ego hasn’t changed remotely since series one... “Unfortunately, he’s still a stagnant mess,” shares the star. “And I don’t see that changing in the near future!” The fantastic returning cast includes Sharon Rooney as Tim’s mate Ruth, Rob Madin as hanger-on Idris, and award-winning actor of both big and small screens, Lorraine Bracco as Tim’s shockingly hilarious mum. And with this show being so close to the bone, does the comedian ever worry about negative repercussions? “I’ve had disappointingly very few backlashes: I was expecting more!” jokes Tim. “Somehow I’ve avoided that so far. But that could all change this season!”

LONG LOST FAMILY | ITV 9PM

Oh, brother!

Long Lost Family must be the most extraordinary show on TV, telling tales which, on the face of it, are more far-fetched than even our beloved soaps. Forget EastEnders' Sharon finding out about brother Zack – this is way more astonishing...

Tonight's story tells of Kate Brown, a 53-year-old woman from Portsmouth who lives with her husband Ray, and eight-year-old son Alexander. Sadly, when Kate was just five days old, she was abandoned by her birth mother, and was subsequently fostered by the Barters. In later years, she lost contact with her beloved foster brother, John. However, her relentless search for him was to uncover something even more extraordinary – her own biological sister...

HOW TO SAVE A GRAND IN 24 HOURS | Channel 4 8PM

Regional variations

Anna Richardson is full of good tips for saving the pennies, and tonight she's helping out new parents Mabel and Saul. They're finding it difficult to work from home at the same time as looking after their new arrival. We all know what it's like to feel too tired to cook, but unfortunately, the cost of regular takeaways can mount up – and the couple are astonished to realise that the price of convenience is an eye-watering £420 a month! Thankfully, chef Gary Usher shows the couple how they can recreate the taste of their favourite take-outs using a cut of budget-busting pork belly...

MASTERCHEF AUSTRALIA | W 7PM

The Aussie version of the cooking comp returns for its 13th series tonight, running every weekday with a fresh batch of contestants, all novice cooks who have given up their day jobs to be put through their paces. Helping them extend their respective repertoires across the series is a smorgasbord of the biggest names in food, including Nigella Lawson and Heston Blumenthal.

THE BABY HAS LANDED | W 9PM

This new series follows six different clans in their first weeks of parenthood. In tonight's opener, the Pierces' first family photo with baby Abigail doesn't go to plan, and Mo tries to get the hang of feeding his son Amr-Ace.

BELOW DECK: MEDITERRANEAN | E4 8PM

HOW HEALTHY IS YOUR GUT? | Channel 4 8PM

Gut instinct

It's estimated that digestive problems cost British business £3 billion a year. Sabrina Grant presents this one-off, exploring why our gut is so important to our overall wellbeing, affecting everything from energy levels to sleeping patterns. But with so many plans and diets on the market, where to start? (For us, it'd be immediately putting down the doughnut we're eating as we type this.)

With the help of six willing volunteers, each with a gut issue, Sabrina puts some of the most popular programmes to the test. They try everything from the bone broth diet to a 10-night intense detox regime at an Ayurvedic retreat, to see whether even a small change can result in a big difference to your digestive system...

Making space

It's all about period properties in tonight's episode, as Kirstie and Phil investigate how they can be adapted for modern-day living, without losing any of their character. First up, the pair meet Sarah and Ian in Northamptonshire. The couple have a toddler and two dogs, so their two-bedroom semi is bulging at the seams. Ian wants out, but Sarah is certain their home can be adapted. Can Kirstie and Phil help?

Meanwhile, Graham and his partner Ryan are fighting over their 17th-century cottage in Surrey. Although it's a beautiful home, Graham thinks it's time to sell, as they need to find somewhere with more space. However, Ryan is desperate to stay, and is sure that Kirstie can help with a clever plan...

Regional variations

Once Kirstie and Phil's work is done, the renovations continue tonight, as George Clarke heads to West Yorkshire to investigate a former police station. This building comes complete with holding cells and a 1980s-style reception area, and owner Rachel – who runs her own fashion business – is determined to transform the space into a spectacular family home. Fortunately, her boyfriend Mike is a builder, so the couple come up with a bold plan to turn the ex-cop shop into their dream house. But how on earth do you go about converting a barred cell into a luxury bathroom?

UNDERCOVER BIG BOSS | ITV 9PM

Back to basics

Bigwig management types are set to get their hands dirty as this new series – in which bosses make a surreptitious return to their own shop floors – begins tonight.

First, it's the turn of self-made millionaire Alfie Best, founder and CEO of residential home enterprise Wyldecrest Parks. Transforming himself into drainage engineer alter ego 'William Finney' – via a drastic haircut, dyed beard, tattoos and piercings – Alfie joins his oblivious employees for the daily grind. But are shocks in store? "I felt I was losing the connection from the grass roots of the business," reckons Alfie. "I started the journey to go undercover and didn't know if it'd work – but I've exposed some failings..."

DON'T Miss!

On the rocks?

THE HOTEL INSPECTOR | Channel 5 9PM

As if it's not terrifying enough having hotel hotshot Alex Polizzi pop by your struggling hospitality establishment once, imagine if she books back in a second time over a decade later to check how efficiently you've embraced her valuable experience and advice? As the current series comes to an end tonight, that's what's in store for Frank and Danielle, who run the West Usk Lighthouse in Gwent. Alex was last there in 2008, with the establishment – once voted Britain's most romantic B&B – having fallen into disrepair. Will Alex approve of what she finds, or is Frank's lighthouse still in the dark?

BUFFERING | ITV2 10PM

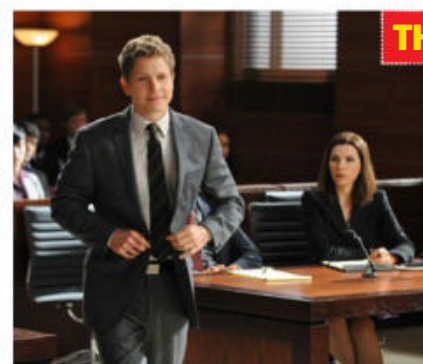

This new six-part comedy comes to us from comedian (and voice of Love Island) Iain Stirling, and co-writer Steve Bugeja. Iain plays, erm, Iain, a children's telly presenter who dislikes kids and has a rocky relationship with his producer. And Iain tells Inside TV his inspo for the show is pretty close to home...

"I had an Edinburgh Fringe show that heavily revolved around my time on kids' TV, so I started making a sitcom about that," he reveals. "It evolved into this ensemble cast flatshare, and then we realised we wanted to tell lots of stories, not just Iain's."

Iain's many housemates are navigating an age where they're too old for nightclubs, but too poor for mortgages: a generation that is told it must live the perfect life, as the star explains...

"We wanted to articulate that bit of life where you're in your late 20s: too old to be out partying, but not rich or old enough to settle down, and haven't really found the right job or right relationship," shares Iain. "So we've got six main cast in different states of limbo, all trying to work out how to be adults..."

THE GOOD WIFE | Alibi 11.10PM

The second season of the award-winning legal drama begins on Alibi tonight. As we join Alicia (Julianna Margulies), she's forced to make her choice between standing by hubby Peter, or pursuing a potential future with Will...

STAR CHOICE

*Casualty actress
Adele James (Tina)*

"There's a Netflix series called Money Heist – it's amazing. It's a Spanish show about a group of convicts who decide to rob the Royal Mint – it's intense! There's also a documentary about how it was made on Netflix, too. And the making of it seems just as dramatic as the series itself!"

HITS & MISSES!

WHAT'S HIT THE BULLSEYE RECENTLY – AND WHAT'S FALLEN WIDE OF THE MARK?

Imagine eventually finding out that your dad, sister and boyfriend were complicit in covering up your hit-and-run? Only in EastEnders!

Trend alert! The 'through the knackers' camera shot is making a late charge for Position Of The Year.

There are Olympic pole vaulters taking smaller leaps than the one Keegan made to conclude that he was going to be a father.

If Emmerdale has brought back Faith just to kill her, we're writing to our MP, Ofcom and the European Court of Human Rights.

It's not as if Tyrone hasn't had practice dealing with stroppy children.

BULLSEYE!

We were certain that not even a Trident missile could penetrate Suki's wall of emotional steel – for the death of her son that she helped to cause, no less. Though, clearly the supremely talented Balvinder Sopal was saving all her fire power for the moment Suki's barriers came down – and now, we're even more intrigued as to how many more layers there are to this Titan of a woman.

Sad as we are for Nicola and Jimmy's marriage, it was probably for the best that the Kings didn't revive their sex life in the café. Brenda would have to burn her mop afterwards.

Meena's facial expression for Your Dreary Grief Is All Just A Little Too Inconvenient For Me is already one of our favourites.

See, we're of an age where "fillers" means egg'n'cress, or coronation chicken. Big up EastEnders for educating us old folk, never mind the young.

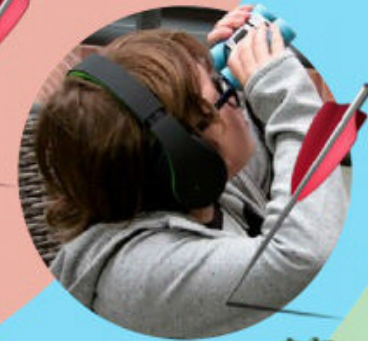

..I got fillers.

Gosh, is Bobby really 18? It only feels like yesterday that he was bludgeoning his sister to death with a musical jewellery box.

This was hands down one of the funniest scenes in soap all year, and we'll fight anyone who says otherwise!

Us waiting for Adam and Imran's contribution to the naked calendar shoot that never came. Spoilsports!

We don't believe that a man of Mackenzie's fluidity would be so shocked at the idea two lovely ladies getting it on – or the suggestion that he might be expected to join in. This is the sort of content he lives for!

Fragrance lasts

He doesn't remember what you wore
Or where you went
He doesn't remember the day
(Or sometimes even the month)
But he remembers the perfume on his pillow
That lingered long after your early-morning

When you thought you'd never see him again
But you did
And you do
